

In 1934 the German armed forces swore an oath of loyalty to Hitler: — Notice the two fingered salute. Doesn't this look familiar?

The two fingered “peace symbol”, of the days of the hippies, had nothing to do with peace at all; its origin was pagan Rome. When you see two fingers held up by the Pope they stand for the two pillars of, Apostolic Succession, and Temporal Power. These two fingers are seen throughout the Catholic art, including pictures of Jesus and the Virgin Mary. The first pillar is nothing but a theatrical stage prop from which the Pope releases his artificial authority from Rome, (otherwise known as religious show business). This was granted him by the forged documents of Constantine. The second pillar of temporal power is the Vatican claiming it has authority over the kings of the earth.

This two fingered salute used by the Pope is the same one used by Hitler and the German army. In 1934 when the German army swore an oath to Adolph Hitler, they used the two fingered salute that is still used today in the Vatican.
